ASSERTION OF FIRST NATIONS RIGHTS FOR ECONOMIC BENEFIT

Regional Workshops – Free of Charge

The New Relationship Trust is proud to present a dynamic new workshop series province-wide.

Facilitated by Dan George of Four Directions Management Services.

Come learn how BC First Nations have asserted their rights to achieve economic benefit. Develop an action plan for how your community can do the same.

DATES AND LOCATIONS:

This workshop has already been held in Kamloops and Nanaimo, Prince George and Fort St. John. Workshops were well attended and received strong reviews from participants. One additional workshop is scheduled for July and will be just as much of a success. Don't miss out!

July 24-25

Terrace – Best Western Inn

The workshop is two days long and runs 9:00am-5:30pm both days.

INTENDED AUDIENCE:

This workshop is intended for First Nations leaders and representatives working in fields related to economic development:

- Councillors and leaders
- Land and resource managers
- Consultation and referral teams
- Negotiating teams
- Economic development officers

REGISTRATION

To register go to <https://www.surveymonkey.com/s/newrelationshiptrust>.

LEARNING OUTCOMES:

Participants will gain:

- Knowledge of how other First Nations have asserted rights for economic benefit.
- An assessment of how their First Nation is asserting rights for economic benefit.
- An action plan describing how their First Nation can increase the assertion of rights for economic benefit.
- A clear idea of where they can find additional resources.

PARTICIPANT MATERIALS:

All participants will be provided with a binder of course materials detailing:

- Workshop slides
- Links to additional resources
- Printed resources for supplementary learning
- Contact information of fellow workshop participants for ongoing follow-up, learning and networking

FUNDING FOR TRAVEL, ACCOMMODATION AND MEALS:

The workshop will be held in the five locations listed above. The workshop is presented free of charge to all BC First Nations by the New Relationship Trust. However, all travel and accommodation are the responsibility of workshop participants. A continental breakfast and light lunch will be provided free of charge during both days of the workshop. Dinner and any other meals / food expenses are the responsibility of workshop participants.
