Property Assessment Notices

Information Message

You may receive a Property Assessment Notice from the B.C. Assessment Authority in the next couple of weeks. The Notice will tell you the value of the property (both land and building) that you own or occupy for purposes of taxation. The Property Assessment Notice is not a tax bill. Nisga'a Lisims Government will send you a tax notice in May which will tell you if you need to pay property tax and, if you do, how much.

If you disagree with the assessed value of the property shown on the Property Assessment Notice, you can appeal, but you must do so by January 31, 2015. The Property Assessment Notice will have information on how to appeal the assessment.

Nisga'a Lisims Government is holding information sessions in each Village to explain about property assessment and taxation, and to answer your questions.

Please see the other side for times and locations. You can attend the meeting in any community.
